Rob Schneider Named Director of Sales at Winning Technologies

ST. LOUIS, MO – November 17, 2004 – Winning Technologies, a nationwide information technology consulting firm with headquarters in O’Fallon (St. Louis) MO., announced Rob Schneider has joined the firm as Director of Sales.

Schneider has nine years of experience in IT sales and has previously served in a management capacity. He has worked with numerous accounts on a national basis. Schneider will be based in the firm’s O’Fallon offices.

“Rob is a great addition to the Winning Technologies staff,” said Scott Lewis, president of the firm. “He has a vast knowledge and experience in the IT industry and his ability to work with national accounts will be a great asset as we continue to grow the company.”

In addition to its O’Fallon headquarters, Winning Technologies maintains several offices throughout the United States including Atlanta, Buffalo, Detroit, Las Vegas, Phoenix, Tampa, Wichita and several cities in California. The firm employs professionals who are experts in Information Technology. Serving the construction, healthcare, hospitality and other industries, they are skilled at identifying opportunities to maximize internal capabilities while enhancing a company’s bottom line. They help guide companies to the cutting edge technology solutions that best meet their business objectives. Their solutions help organizations maximize return on investment, streamline work processes and improve profitability.
